

Industry, Leadership, Enterprise and Development program

The latest offering from Tasmanian Leaders is designed to address the unique challenges faced by the community sector by fast-tracking the leadership capacity within it.

Suitable for people from both large and small enterprises, this version of I-LEAD will enable community organisations to prosper in increasingly complex economic and social conditions. Participants can expect to build on their management toolbox with a focus on creating positive and productive workplaces, and tools to think strategically and long term.

I-LEAD Not-for-profit will be delivered across eight sessions between August and October, commencing and concluding with full day in-person events in Launceston. In between will be six Wednesday morning sessions delivered virtually.

This weekly rhythm enables participants to apply learnings between sessions including new behavioural choices, and to test previously held assumptions as their learnings become integrated. The online components minimise disruption to participants work flow.

Expert facilitators alongside sector professionals will deliver content and generate insights across three key areas:

Personal Leadership

- Better understand self and others within and external to the organisation
- Ensure passions and values align with the mission of the organisation

Strategic Leadership

- Manage governance and compliance with limited resources
- Inform better organisational planning and decision making

Organisational Leadership

- To harness innovation to drive relevant support services and outcomes
- Ensure organisational sustainability and development

By the end of the program participants can:

- Value themselves as a leader
- Hold a purposeful and strategic vision for themselves, their organisation and the sector
- Better drive or influence organisational performance
- Have a wider network of relevant sector peers
- Generate and lead community solutions to transform disadvantage into advantage

Program fees

This 2021 I-LEAD is only for charities and for-purpose organisations delivering services within Tasmania. For general not-for-profits the fee is $1,330 per participant. For registered charities the fee is generously subsidised, with thanks to the Winifred D Booth Trust, to $290.

Who should join?

Committed people with management experience and an authentic drive to develop leadership to elevate service outcomes across Tasmania.

Selection criteria

I-LEAD participants must demonstrate leadership ability and a commitment to lead their sector forward.

Registration will be successful based on meeting the following criteria:

- Employment or volunteering in Tasmania in a not-for-profit organisation
- Demonstrated leadership experience and achievement to date
- Commitment to participate in the program and work with, learn from and share with others
- Potential to contribute to the sector and Tasmania after the program
